The Johns Hopkins Institute for Data Intensive Engineering and Science (IDIES) had a kickoff event, which we have called the Inaugural Get-Together. It's clear that IDIES needs some marketing consultation. Anyhow, the Johns Hopkins scientific computing community got together to share project descriptions that fit under this aegis and talk about IDIES future activities.